St. Francis' Fair Held On Thursday

The Annual Fair sponsored by the Episcopal Churchwomen of St. Francis, Grayling, was held on the lawn of the Carl W. Johnson home last week. Blue skies and balmy weather contributed to the delightful affair which was attended by many people from out of town as well as locally.

Delicate Christmas tree ornaments, one of the items on sale, served as the decorations theme, suspended from low branches around the yard. Small tables with pastel cloths and bouquets of fresh flowers were set around where guests could sit for tea and visit with friends.

All of the gift tables were out of doors also, but the tea table was set up in Mrs. Johnson's lovely dining room with its fine collection of colored glass and antiques. Crawford County Avalanche Thursday, August 18, 1960

St. Francis' Fair
The Rev. Colin Campbell, Vicar of St. Francis, held a corporate communion service for the workers before the fair opened. In his prayers he reminded the women that their efforts should be directed to the glory of God first and to their desire for a new church secondly.

Mrs. Charles Kroll and Mrs. Elz Beery were co-chairmen of this annual event, which through the help of the many friends of St. Francis, was a marked financial success.

HONORED WITH FAREWELL PARTY AT MERCY HOSPITAL

Mrs. Walter Johnson was the guest of honor at a farewell coffee hour given by the Sisters of Mercy and the staff at Mercy Hospital in the Auxiliary Room at the hospital Wednesday evening, August 10th, from 8 o'clock to 10. Mrs. Johnson will be working for the Department of Public Health, covering Roscommon County, from now on. She has been a registered nurse at Mercy Hospital for the past eleven years, and is a Mercy graduate.

Around fifty people were present to wish Mrs. Johnson farewell. The guests were seated at individual tables scattered around the room, each table with its own centerpiece of tuberoses, begonia, and a horseshoe shaped cake with the words "Good Luck" were displayed on a buffet table set with four white tapers in silver candlesticks. A floral centerpiece in white filled with pink roses was furnished by Mrs. M. A. Martzowka, and later presented to Mrs. Johnson as a gift. She also was presented with a gift of two pieces of luggage, given by her fellow employees.

STORK SHOWER HELD
Mrs. Eric Goinick was the guest of honor at a stork shower given by Mrs. Allen Elzinga and Mrs. Harold Long at the Long residence last Wednesday evening. The eighteen ladies present enjoyed playing buncos, and prizes were won by Mrs. Jerry Korhonen, Mrs. Gerald Smock and Mrs. Bud Smith.

Refreshments of tuna salad, jelly sandwiches, coffee, and tea were served from a table centered with a cake decorated with a beautifully done arrangement of a house and baby-toting stork flying over it. Mrs. Goinick received many lovely and useful gifts.

located in 21 states mainly in the Midwest area. For the past 8 years the firm has greatly expanded their Skogmo store operation in Michigan. These stores fill the needs of the common people with high quality merchandise at popular prices.

Mr. Kraus is well known in Grayling, having grown up here and cut his teeth in his father's clothing store. He is an attorney and counselor at law in Detroit and resides in Detroit and Grayling.

Assisting him in the Skogmo operation is Mrs. Neil Kellogg and other members of his organization.

"I hope all the residents of Grayling and surrounding area will stop in and get acquainted with our beautiful new Skogmo store during the Grand Opening," Mr. Kraus said. "We're offering many special values for this Grand Event."

The editor joins the businessmen of Grayling in welcoming the Skogmo Store to the shopping facilities of GRAYLING, and wishes Mr. Kraus every success in his new business venture. Watch for the special Grand Opening advertisement in next week's issue of the Avalanche.

Auditor General, State's Watchdog

THE WATCHDOG OVER Michigan's money matters is the Auditor General, a position now held by Otis M. Smith.

Until the first of the year, the Auditor General's office also wrote the state's checks and balanced—or tried to balance—the checkbook.

An act of the 1959 Legislature created a situation not unlike one that could be found in many homes.

The philosophy behind the change was that one agency ought not to have both pre-audit and post audit powers.

Action of the Auditor General is now concentrated on checking not only the Treasury department, which handles state payrolls, welfare payments and general expenditures made by the Department of Administration, but the operations of all state agencies which have substantial money matters in their own hands.

Chief among these would be the Highway Department, Department of Revenue, the larger regulatory agencies, colleges, hospitals and prisons.

Agencies which have major financial matters in their hands are audited annually. Those with lesser powers are audited each two or three years.

In addition, a commercial firm of auditors is hired every year to audit the Auditor General's operations.

The County Audit Division of the Auditor General's department is supposed to examine the books, accounts and financial affairs of each county department and institution annually.

However, understaffing permits only periodic checks with commercial accounting firms doing part of the work.

Things the Auditor General looks for in going over the books of state or county agencies include: Whether procedures involving systems and records conform to the laws; whether the handling of funds and property has been done properly; and whether cost accounting records and reports are adequate and effective.

THE GREAT DEBATE over the wilderness areas, particularly in the Upper Peninsula, for commercial operations still rages. It seems to involve a basic conflict of philosophies that will be difficult, if not utterly impossible, to reconcile in the foreseeable future.

On the one hand are the conservationists, who say certain wild areas should be preserved for posterity as the one last frontier.

But those who advocate maximum industrial and commercial operations as a way to make Michigan richer and give the state a better competitive position nationally say use can be made of many if not most of the wilderness areas without harming their value as natural attractions.

Conservation groups, outdoorsmen and plain nature-lovers take the first position, while commercial interests, economic development groups and private businessmen take the second stand.

The conservationists won one round when permission was refused for mineral exploration in the Porcupine Mountains State Park.

A powerful spokesman on record for limited development of wilderness areas is Dr. Paul H. Rader, chief of research for the Michigan Economic Development Department, who says conservation, not preservation, of natural resources is the key to prosperous operation of both tourist business and industrial and commercial firms.

Herbert said too much concentration on the preservation of wild areas would further impoverish the Upper Peninsula.

AN ILLUSTRIOUS STATESMAN who was also an illustrious scholar left his mark on state, national and international politics—James H. Cass, one of Michigan's state office buildings named after him.

Gen. Lewis Cass held six appointments as territorial governor of Michigan between 1813 and 1838.

He served in the United States Senate and as Minister to France. Throughout his career in public service, Cass continued to do research on historical and governmental matters and was a most prolific writer on the subjects.

Among his other contributions, Gen. Cass was recognized as one of the young nation's foremost authorities on the American Indian. He spread his efforts, however, to numerous historical fields and questions of the day.

An important facet of his character was the way in which he encouraged others to scholarly activity.

That Capital Gains Tax . . .

Certain kinds of property — including stocks and other securities are subject to a maximum capital gains tax of 25 per cent. In other words, if an investor sells holdings, after owning them for six months or more, and makes a profit, he may pay a maximum 25 per cent federal tax on this profit, instead of the regular personal income tax.

It is frequently charged that this amounts to gross favoritism for investors — particularly investors in high income brackets. And people who aren't conversant with the situation no doubt believe that.

Actually, the capital gains tax is a penalty rather than a boon. The money the investor used to buy the securities in the first place had already been subjected to income tax, at rates ranging up to 91 per cent.

It is a notable fact that most other highly industrialized countries — Canada and England among them — do not tax capital gains at all. Their tax laws, in effect, recognize the injustice of the practice. They also recognize that the tax is a serious barrier to investment and therefore, to economic development and growth.

If the national strength and welfare is the main consideration, we too should free capital gains of taxation — or, at the least, materially reduce the present rate.

A Look Back . . .

We pride ourselves on being a forward-looking people. We foresee a time in which life will be happier, healthier, richer, and more productive. We all hope that the world in which our children will live out their lives will be a better one than ours.

At the same time, it is the part of wisdom to look back — if only to recall some of the words that were said long ago by men who helped make this nation. For instance, there is this: "I place economy among the first and most important virtues, and the public debt as the greatest of dangers to be feared. To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt."

"We must make our choice between economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude. If we run into such debts, we must be taxed in our meat and drink, in our necessities and in our comforts, in our labors and in our amusements."

"If we can prevent the government from wasting the labors of the people under the pretense of caring for them, they will be happy."

That was said by Thomas Jefferson, whose contribution to the American system of government was, perhaps, greater than that of any other single man. The language is archaic, but the principle is crystal clear. We have gone a grimly long distance in violating his doctrine. The question is whether we shall have the resolution, the strength, and the wisdom to change our national way before it is too late.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVANCE OF 23 YEARS AGO

August 19, 1937

The new Chamber of Commerce information booth on Michigan Avenue across from the post-office is now practically complete except for a hardwood floor which will be put in soon. The people of Grayling are indebted to a number of individuals and firms for this splendid structure. The land it occupies, between the Charles Moore law office and the Avalanche office, is loaned the Chamber of Commerce by Mr. Moore without charge. It is surprising the way tourists and other Grayling visitors have made use of this information booth. Miss Christina Cobb is the attendant at present.

Thomas Zohott and Charles Meisel of Detroit have rented the cement block building on Railroad Street belonging to the Mosher family and are opening an auto parts store. They will buy and sell old autos and other machinery, and sell new and second hand parts for all makes of cars. They will also handle new and second hand tires, and buy all kinds of junk.

Grant Shaw has retired from the service of the Michigan Central railroad and Western Union Telegraph Co. For over 32 years Grant has been selling our R. R. tickets and sending our messages with almost indefatigable regularity. He started in the service March 7, 1905, and worked for about a year as a relief operator. That he was stationed at Grayling and has been here ever since until last June when he retired. He leaves a fine record of service. Shaw's Park will no doubt claim the major part of his time from now on.

Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Clippert and Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Schmann entertained twenty-four of their friends at a very lovely dinner at the home of the Clipperts Friday evening. Five tables of contract were in play following the dinner. The high and low score for the ladies were held by Mrs. C. R. Keyport and Mrs. Harry Cornine, while the gentlemen's high score was held by A. J. Joseph and the low by Mr. Herbert Wolff.

James Roy is the name of the new son born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bishaw on August 11. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keely and family of Flint visiting Mrs. Keely's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter, this week. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tinker visited relatives in Flint over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schnelker of Flint are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hoessl until Monday.

Bob Tetu of West Branch is visiting his cousin, Carl Henry Nielson, this week. Bob is the popcorn salesman at Midstate theatre in his home town.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Decker and baby and Mrs. Decker's sister, Miss Edna McLaughlin of Sparland, Ill., are visiting the Decker families here, expecting to remain until the first of September.

Don't Scream for Ice Cream

Doc Davis, the young dentist, moved into town only three months ago—but already he has a thriving business, especially with children.

Found the secret of his success when I stopped by Pop's Drugstore for a sandwich the other day. A small fry walked in and handed a card to Pop.

Pop immediately went to the ice cream freezer. As he started scooping a cone, I asked him if I could see that card. It read: FOR GALLANTRY IN THE DENTIST'S CHAIR—ADULT AND BEYOND THE CALL OF DUTY—PLEASE PRESENT THE BEARER

WITH A DOUBLE-SCOOP ICE CREAM CONE, ON ME, DOC DAVIS.

From where I sit, it's good when a man can deal with people through understanding. He's the sort of fellow who respects the preferences of others though they may differ from his own... a tolerant man who offers his neighbor a glass of beer even though he, himself, may prefer lemonade. Take it from me, tolerance is the "painless" way to build a strong community.

BITS O' TALK

Dr. and Mrs. Goryl of Detroit visited the Harold Hempels last week, as did Mr. Wilkenson of Detroit, who is working here building the new highway. Jackie Roels of Detroit, Mrs. Hempel's niece, and her niece Francina Marks, visited a week in Grayling. Mrs. Harold Longdyke vacated her cabin recently to take her daughter Joanne on a trip through Michigan's upper peninsula. The pair first took in the sights at fabulous Mackinac Island, then went on to the Son Locks, The Tahquamenon Falls were next on their agenda. At Hancock they visited the Arcadian copper mine, and from there went on up to Copper Harbor where they spent their daytime hours hunting eagles on the beaches of Lake Superior and at night they haunted the bear pits with great success. They toured back by way of the Porcupine Mountains and visited the Crystal Falls iron mine, a most interesting sight. After a good 1,000 miles of driving and sightseeing the Mackinac Bridge was a welcome sight and after a short stay at the Hideout the pair returned to Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Woodward of Detroit called on the Frank Servens Saturday before last.

Mrs. William Thompson and daughter Sue of Dearborn, visited her aunt Mrs. Holger Schmidt from August 1st to the 4th. Mrs. Schmidt's daughter Mrs. Wilfred Langlois of Detroit left Monday after spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Schmidt, and was accompanied by her daughter Marilyn who had spent a month with her grandmother.

Recent guests of Mrs. Margaret Baumgarten were her cousin Mrs. Rachel Parks and Fred Bowen of Lamb, Mich. and Mr. and Mrs. John Densmore and family of St. Clair.

Robert Luter and Mrs. Robert Strong were in Peck, Michigan last Thursday to attend the funeral of her uncle, Peter Carter, Jr., who succumbed at the Shover Nursing Home in Richmond, on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lamm were in Clarkston last Tuesday on business.

John Peterson and son David of Rochester spent last week with his mother, Mrs. Bertha Peterson. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schreiber and daughter Mrs. Margaret Youngblood of Grand Rapids visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Schreiber, the weekend before last, enjoying a canoe trip down river while here. They also visited other relatives during their stay. Mrs. Youngblood left Sunday for Las Vegas, Nevada, where she will teach this coming school year.

Mrs. Alvin Moore and Mrs. Frank Muth attended the American Legion Auxiliary convention in Detroit from August 3rd through the 7th.

"DON'T SIDE WITH THE WRONG PEOPLE"

By Paul L. Adams
State Attorney General

"Your home has been selected as a model in this neighborhood for an aluminum siding job." These words spoken by unscrupulous salesmen have cost Michigan residents hard-earned dollars yearly.

My investigations as Attorney General indicate that the application of siding stands out as one of the most fruitful sources of exorbitant profits by those who prey upon the desire of home owners to improve their property.

And the fraudulent gimmicks used keep pace with the huge profits to be made by the unprincipled organizations using door-to-door salesmen in this business. You may be told that the house has been selected as a neighborhood model to be photographed and advertised and you will be paid $100 for each new siding job acquired as a result of this advertising. That your siding job will cost you next to nothing. Actually it will probably cost you twice as much as a legitimate business man would charge. And don't depend on referral money. The chances are you will never get a penny.

Another gimmick is that your home is being considered by the board of directors for a siding job which, if you are picked, will be used as a model for national advertising. If you win the company will send you a check every month for a number of years to pay you for the cost of the siding. Don't worry! Next morning you will be informed that you have won.

Of course to be eligible for the job, you will be asked to sign a work order authorizing the work. What you are signing is a promissory note. If you refuse to pay, you will be threatened with court action. And don't wait on the checks from the company. They will never arrive.

Don't fall for these gimmicks. If you want a siding job, compare estimates from legitimate businessmen in your area.

The something-for-nothing you may think you are getting now will cost you headaches, heart aches and paychecks for many years to come.

Business At Faster Pace In Crawford Co.

(Special to the Avalanche)

New York — Comprehensive figures on business activity in Crawford County, just released, show that the year 1959 was a record-breaking one locally.

More money was earned and more was spent per family than in most sections of the United States. Whatever economic loss had been sustained during the general recession of 1958 was wiped away completely.

The facts and figures are revealed in Sales Management's new copyrighted "Survey of Buying Power," covering all parts of the country.

They show that consumer spending in Crawford County rose to new heights in the year, with retail stores chalking up a sales volume of $6,770,000. This topped the previous year's $6,522,000.

The amount was considerably more than was to have been expected on the basis of population. From that standpoint, local retail business should have amounted to only .0029 percent of the national volume. Actually, however, it came to .0031 percent.

Most lines of business shared in the general advance, which was achieved despite the steel strike. The credit for it is given to a confident consuming public, which went right ahead with its buying.

What made it possible was the fact that they had more money to spend. The survey shows that net incomes locally, after deduction for taxes, amounted to $5,928,000, as against a 1958 total of $4,602,000.

It was equivalent to $4,560 per household, an arithmetic average arrived at by dividing total income by number of households.

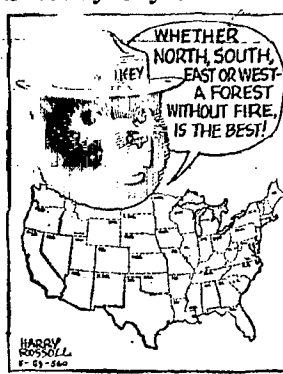

With retail sales more than earnings locally, it is apparent that Crawford County is used as a trading center by people from other areas.

The relative standings of communities with respect to purchasing ability and business activity are shown through "Indexes of sales production," which take into account such factors as population and retail sales.

The index rating for Crawford County is given as 107, or 7 percent above the national average. Most economists view the near future with optimism. They feel that good times are ahead, although they no longer see a boom in the offing. They point to the fact that employment is at a high level, that incomes keep rising in most areas and that the demand for goods continues strong.
